Councillor Beattie was appointed Deputy Mayor for the next three months.

A by-law was put through its three stages authorizing the Mayor and Sec.-treas., to sign the gas lease on behalf of the town.

The Mayor brought up the matter of a new fire hall and Thursday, April 21st, was fixed upon.

A request, introduced by the Mayor, relative to a grant of $500 this year towards the erection of a proposed district hospital, was laid upon the table.

A. F. Werte, as secretary of the Rural Municipality of Bow Island, then addressed the Council with reference to the work of the organization, especially the farmers' wives and families. He pointed out that the Rural Municipality's work consisted in keeping and repairing the roads leading to the town and brought the people looking for the same, and providing some place where their families could rest themselves during the winter and summer should be taken up by the business men of Bow Island.

After a short discussion, the Mayor appointed Councillors Brown, Cotton and Beattie as a committee to go into the matter.

The Council then adjourned until the 27th.

Piano Recital.

The piano recital given in Bow Island on Friday of last week by Mr. and Mrs. Fenton of Medicine Hat, was a success. The town of Bow Island, and for Bow Island it furnished one of those rare opportunities at which we could welcome and appreciate such exceptional ability as Mr. and Mrs. Fenton. Their programme of western andings is most artistically demonstrative. But when it becomes one, it is encouraging to know that its demonstration is in appreciation of the training of the higher order of Bow Island. Their visit was a return of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton with more than the usual degree of expectation.

The programme delivered on Friday night was as follows —

Sonata op. 27, No. 2 ("Moonlight")

Adagio, Beethoven.

Adagio Sostenato.

Allegretto.

Primo Agitato.

Allegro.

Allegro, Paganini.

The Last Chorus, Sullivan.

Land of Hope and Glory, Elgar.

Allegro, Mrs. Fenton.

Primo Adagio, Greg.

Widow's Lament, MacLean.

La Fiacre (Bride), Raff.

Blonde Melodie, Raff.

Prima Concerto, Schachowsky.

Mr. Fenton.

My Dear Son, Sanderson.

Allegro, Mrs. Fenton.

Primo Adagio, Mrs. Dowell.

Spring Song, Leibing.

AMERICAN PAPERS NOT AFRAID TO TELL OF CANADA'S PROSPERITY

SOME ASTOUNDING FIGURES ARE PRESENTED

Chicago Herald Gives Some Particulars About the Remarkable Development of This Country Within Recent Years, and Tells How Canada is Coming Into Her Own

In connection with the opening of the Chicago Herald's industrial exhibition on North Clark and Randolph streets, a recent edition of this paper had the following to say:

"When Canada closed her books for 1915, she found her farmers prosperous beyond expectation, her industrial plants running overtime, her men using every ounce of our wealth from budsons undeveloped sources, and her people, in short, making more net earnings in their history."

"From two items alone Canada added $1,000,000,000 to the wealth of the country during the year, and over 70 per cent. of it was accumulated during the last six months. The total value of our exports is $63,000,000, and her industries over $60,000,000. Her exports to the U.S. increased from $10,000,000 in 1914, to $19,635,888, and her imports decreased $1,760,464."

"The following figures in themselves demonstrate to what an extent Canada can be built up on her own foundation. Her bank deposits during 1915 increased $1,000,000."

"Important industrial growth has proved to be the foundation of Canada's wealth. In 1915, the country's total industrial output was $1,000,000,000.

"The growth of the country's population has been

"partly responsible for the growth of the country's wealth. She is well supplied with food, especially

"with grain, and her industries are

"nearly brought corresponding effort.

"She has a new and fertile soil,

THE VOGUE OF JERSEY

A Sports Suit of Heavier Weave

HERE is absolutely no questioning of the fact that jersey weaves predominate in the new fabrics for spring. "I don't like the slimy old stuff," you will hear many a woman say who remembers the time—some decades ago—when jersey was very much in vogue. She forgets that wonderful things have happened to machinery since then, so that the jersey weaves of today are a very different proposition. Designers have taken up this material for sports wear particularly, and more daring ones have used it to advantage for more formal wear.

Thus you have jersey suits, coats, blouses, sweater coats, dresses and jersey, or, as it is called, "la jersey" silk underwear. There is a new serge out, too, called tricot, which is a serge with a soft jersey weave. Of course the feature about jersey weaves of all sorts is the great elasticity and consequent adaptability. Jersey does seem, however, an anachronism in this day of bouffant skirts and flare generally; but that is but another proof that fashion asks no credentials if a style pleases her.

The two suits pictured—one in light-weight jersey weave and the other heavier—show that the new jersey materials lend themselves admirably to tailoring and keep a fair semblance of shapeliness. The light-blue suit is a pretty model for early summer or even for sports wear, but is not to be suggested for the woman with a limited wardrobe. The dark-blue suit may take the place of the sports or walking suit which forms part of every woman's spring wardrobe. Both show yoke, belt and pockets in the coat and plain gored skirt.

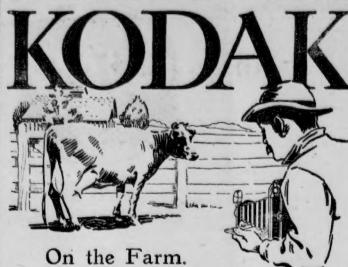

A very smart sports costume is made from the white jersey silk. It is a "slip-on" style, the sweater or jacket part going over the head. One may wear it with a silk blouse, or a chemisette would answer the purpose. A black varnished ribbon binds the jacket and revers and belt. This ribbon is supposed to suggest the patent leather trimming and carries out the scheme of things glossy, which is a big fashion feature at present.

The Popular Material in More Formal Gown

The green frock shows how the jersey weave may be manipulated into a real frock. While there is nothing very startling about this dress, nor any particular reason why jersey should have been chosen for its development, it is, nevertheless, something that many women will want who pride themselves on their acceptance of everything new. Notice the cape stiffened to collar height. It is lined daringly with yellow silk.

A true sports dress that allows for unhampered movement on the part of the hockey or golf player or roller skater is of the brilliant yellow jersey cloth. Bronzed kid for vest, belt and cuffs gives it a stylish touch.

Mr. Farmer,

You are commencing the spring work. Your horse's shoulders are soft. Save yourself the loss of time caused by colic calls by putting a good pad in the collar. Throw away your old ones when they begin to harden.

We recommend the Tapacto Yellow Pad.

It is superior to any other pad on the market. It has one more spring and one more roll of stitching, and is guaranteed to contain clean absorbent composite stuffing. Get your supply from us while we have all sizes in stock. Accept no other brand.
